My Beloved Ones:

Do you know that in the building of Shamballa the entire populace was wiped out four times and the completed City of The Sun was bought with blood and agony of the Chelas of Sanat Kumara? Many of you, My outposts at present, were trusted Lieutenants who stood with the leading individual who went down temporarily before the onslaught of the savage horde three times out of four. When the Glorious "Bridge" to Shamballa was completed which connected the mainland with the Shining Island, you were among the group who crossed The Bridge with The Kumaras and Myself.

For the first twenty-four hours the Shining Island was completely devoted to the drawing of The Light by the Kumaras (which ceremony may to some extent be likened to the consecration of new church buildings on the Earth today), and on the second day the populace was allowed to enter the Central Holy Temple for devotional service.

These records, dear hearts, are in your etheric bodies. The Earthly turmoil which some of you seem to be experiencing at present is but child's play in comparison to the agonies of the past. If you, beloved, could see what you have been through all down the centuries that have been, your present experiences would be as a fleck of dust on the Sun. There have been moments of black despair in your previous experiences in this Earthly Schoolroom! By holding firm to The Light (as you have understood It), each in his own way, these experiences have been turned into shining moments of the most brilliant God-Victory.

Now as you make this crossing at a momentous time in Earthly history, hold firm, hearts of Mine! So will you become Stars of Brightness to aid future weary travelers on The Spiritual Path which all must travel, Home!

I walk with you every step of The Way though you see Me not.

Love and Blessings
MAHA CHOHAN.
